Part B. CV SUMMARY (max. 3500 characters, including spaces)

MCN completed her PhD studies at the Universidad de Sevilla in 1993 under the supervision of Prof. Ernesto Carmona in the field of Organometallic Chemistry, focused in the activation of C-H bonds of hydrocarbons by iridium complexes. Then, she joined Prof. Robin N Perutz's group at the University of York, UK, as a Marie Curie postdoctoral fellow. She worked on the isolation, characterization and, reactivity towards small molecules of low-coordinate species of Ru(0) and Os(0) obtained under photochemical conditions (matrix-isolation and laser flash photolysis). In 1996, she moved to the Universidad de Huelva, Spain, to work with Prof. Pedro J. Pérez as a post-doc researcher, where she worked in catalytic C-C and C-heteroatom bond forming reactions promoted by copper(I) complexes. A major part of her academic career was developed at the Universidad de Huelva as Assistant Professor (1997), Associate Professor (1998) and Lecturer (1999). In 2010 she moved to the Universidad de Sevilla where she is Full Professor since 2011.

In the last years of her stay at the Universidad de Huelva, she started an independent research line focused on late transition metal-based catalysts for applications in organic synthesis. Since 2014, she heads the research group named "Estructura y Reactividad de Compuestos Organometálicos. Catálisis Homogénea" Her research interests include the application of organometallic catalysis to organic synthesis and the study of the mechanism involved in these transformations. She has authored 71 publications and two book chapters, more than 80% in Q1 JCR-listed journals including several in high impact multidisciplinary chemistry publications. She has been invited as speaker at national and international meetings, as well as research centers. She has supervised

7 PhD Thesis (with two extraordinary PhD awards in 2004-2005 and 2020-2021) and more than 25 Degree Projects and Master Thesis. She is currently supervising 3 more theses in different stages.
